PARISH NEWS 4 MARCH 2012

VOCATION PRAYER

Lord give me the gift of a generous heart to follow your will as I journey the path of life. You set before me the vocation of priesthood, religious life, single life and marriage. Grant me the grace and generosity I need to answer your call. Amen.

CONTINUING POPE BENEDICT'S LETTER ON CHARITY AND TRUTH

THE BIBLE'S INTRINSIC UNITY

In the passage from letter to spirit, we also learn, within the Church's great tradition, to see the unity of all Scripture, grounded in the unity of God's word, which challenges our life and constantly calls us to conversion. Here the words of Hugh of Saint Victor remain a sure guide: "All divine Scripture is one book, and this one book is Christ, speaks of Christ and finds its fulfilment in Christ". Viewed in purely historical or literary terms, of course, the Bible is not a single book, but a collection of literary texts composed over the course of a thousand years or more, and its individual books are not easily seen to possess an interior unity; instead, we see clear inconsistencies between them. This was already the case with the Bible of Israel, which we Christians call the Old Testament. It is all the more so when, as Christians, we relate the New Testament and its writings as a kind of hermeneutical key to Israel's Bible, thus interpreting the latter as a path to Christ. The New Testament generally does not employ the term "Scripture" (cf. Rom 4:3; 1 Pet 2:6), but rather "the Scriptures" (cf. Mt 21:43; Jn 5:39; Rom 1:2; 2 Pet 3:16), which nonetheless are seen in their entirety as the one word of God addressed to us. This makes it clear that the person of Christ gives unity to all the "Scriptures" in relation to the one "Word". In this way we can understand the words of Number 12 of the Dogmatic Constitution Dei Verbum, which point to the internal unity of the entire Bible as a decisive criterion for a correct hermeneutic of faith.

MISSION STATEMENT

Fr. Leslie writes

Welcome to our parish of St. Joseph the Worker

Today's Gospel recounts the Transfiguration of Jesus on the mountain. It was such an experience for Peter, James and John that they wanted to stay for ever with Jesus.

In the Bible, God often chose the mountain top to reveal himself. On Mount Sinai he gave the commandments to Moses and on Horeb, Elijah encountered God in the gentle breeze. Jesus taught the Beatitudes on the Mount, and often withdrew to the mountain to pray. It was on Mount Calvary that Jesus was crucified, and from Mount Olive he ascended into heaven.

Today Jesus is transfigured in the presence of Peter, James and John on Mount Tabor. Moses, the giver of the law and Elijah, the great prophet are also present conversing with Jesus about his approaching death. Jesus is the one who came to bring to completion the law and the prophets. In their presence the voice of the Father is heard – "This is my Son the Beloved, listen to Him".

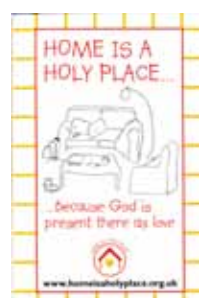

These words were spoken also by the Father at Jesus' baptism in the Jordan, an affirmation of his Father's love. Jesus has to descend the mountain and take the road to Gethsemane and finally to his crucifixion and death. This experience of the transfiguration was a foretaste of his glory and strengthened him to endure rejection and the death of a criminal. The voice of the Father on Tabor is an invitation for us to be attentive to God's word now.

"We too long for the experience of transfiguration, to stand on Mount Tabor with Peter, James and John and to see God revealed in Jesus Christ. We want to be like Moses and catch a glimpse of his glory. We want, like Elijah, to hear God in the sound of stillness. But the magnificence of the Son of God transfigured on Tabor is to be found veiled in Gethsemane and on Calvary. The glory of God, not now seen directly by human eyes, is just as real and present when Christ experiences agony in the garden. In this agony of the Son of Man all mankind was involved. The passion of Jesus Christ is for all time and all people".

(Cardinal Basil Hume)

Thank you and God Bless everyone.

Fr Leslie

May the gift that is Jesus live in your home and in your heart throughout the year
