VOCATION PRAYER

Lord give me the gift of a generous heart to follow your will as I journey the path of life. You set before me the vocation of priesthood, religious life, single life and marriage. Grant me the grace and generosity I need to answer your call. Amen.

CONTINUING THE ENCYCLICAL LETTER OF THE SUPREME PONTIFF FRANCIS

THE LIGHT OF FAITH - CONTINUED

CHAPTER ONE

The faith of Israel (continued)

13. The history of Israel also shows us the temptation of unbelief to which the people yielded more than once. Here the opposite of faith is shown to be idolatry. While Moses is speaking to God on Sinai, the people cannot bear the mystery of God's hiddenness; they cannot endure the time of waiting to see his face. Faith by its very nature demands renouncing the immediate possession which sight would appear to offer; it is an invitation to turn to the source of the light, while respecting the mystery of a countenance which will unveil itself personally in its own good time. Martin Buber once cited a definition of idolatry proposed by the rabbi of Kock: idolatry is "when a face addresses a face which is not a face." In place of faith in God, it seems better to worship an idol, into whose face we can look directly and whose origin we know, because it is the work of our own hands. Before an idol, there is no risk that we will be called to abandon our security, for idols "have mouths, but they cannot speak" (Ps 115:5). Idols exist, we begin to see, as a pretext for setting ourselves at the centre of reality and worshiping the work of our own hands. Once man has lost the fundamental orientation which unifies his existence, he breaks down into the multiplicity of his desires; in refusing to await the time of promise, his life story disintegrates into a myriad of unconnected instants. Idolatry, then, is always polytheism, an aimless passing from one lord to another. Idolatry does not offer a journey but rather a plethora of paths leading nowhere and forming a vast labyrinth. Those who choose not to put their trust in God must hear the din of countless idols crying out: "Put your trust in me!" Faith, tied as it is to conversion, is the opposite of idolatry; it breaks with idols to turn to the living God in a personal encounter. Believing means entrusting oneself to a merciful love which always accepts and pardons, which sustains and directs our lives, and which shows its power by its ability to make straight the crooked lines of our history. Faith consists in the willingness to let ourselves be constantly transformed and renewed by God's call. Herein lies the paradox: by constantly turning toward the Lord, we discover a sure path which liberates us from the dissolution imposed upon us by idols.

MISSION STATEMENT

Fr. Leslie writes

Welcome to all our parishioners and visitors to our parish of St Joseph the work. Today the nation remembers all who made the supreme sacrifice of their lives in two world wars, and in recent wars particularly Iraq and Afghanistan. We should never forget them. Of course November is the sombre month of the year when we also remember our own dead. However the church teaches us that we need to be cleansed and purified. The Holy Souls died in God's grace and friendship and their eternal salvation is assured through the grace of Jesus Christ our Lord. Nowadays it is as if we have lost confidence in presenting and upholding the Church's teaching on the final things – Heaven, Hell, Purgatory judgement and Christ's second coming. These teachings have been part of the churches patrimony since the beginning and will not change. They are divine teachings, Holy truths. The church was held to the teaching of Purgatory because of its sense of the need to be cleansed and purified. Purgatory could be an instant of time. The great saints often thought that the joy of Purgatory was second only to the joy of Heaven.

This month we pray for our dead, our loved ones, the faithful departed, our brothers and sisters who have gone before us marked with the sign of faith.

Have a great Sunday and God bless.

Fr Leslie

LETTER FROM THE BISHOP

I had a very enjoyable Pastoral visit on Sunday. Please thank Ian who came to collect me and yourself for driving me home afterwards. It was a joy to preside at the 10.30mass. Everything flowed beautifully and the nine Confirmandi came across as a very good group of people. It was an inspiring and memorable occasion. Clearly you had the best of Catechists with Sarah and some of the Walsingham house team, also I would like to thank all those who contributed on the day itself- Catrina has been looking after your music for so many years but I would like to thank all the servers and those who prepared the church and the delightful refreshments afterwards. I was very pleased to be able to go into the hall and greet some of the candidates and their families and also a number of parishioners. I am particularly pleased with your support for the parish of Dundee, in South Africa, Cafod and especially the Catholic Children's Society. With renewed good wishes and gratitude for such a happy visit.

IN THE GOSPEL TODAY

Jesus tells the people that the Temple they are admiring will be destroyed one day. He says other bad things will happen, like storms and earthquakes. Jesus tells them that they must not be afraid, for goodness wins out in the end.
